

2010 California Green Summit March 15 - 17, Sacramento

Green Technology's 2010 Green California Summit and Exposition will be held at the Sacramento Convention Center. Alex Spilger from BCCI will be speaking at one of the pre-summit workshops.

About Alex Spilger

Alex manages BCCI's Sustainable Division. He creates and implements comprehensive LEED tools for effectively managing the LEED documentation process for BCCI's diverse portfolio of green building projects. In addition to LEED project management, Alex is the founder of Green Step Education and teaches LEED workshops through organizations such as the US Green Building Council (USGBC), American Institute of Architects (AIA) and individual workshop with prominent Bay Area architects and developers. Alex has also developed a curriculum for UC Berkeley Extension where he teaches a 6-week course in the fall.

LEED & Other Green Building Certifications Workshop

Alex will offer insight on how to streamline the LEED process, the advantages of constructing a LEED certified building and how the task of becoming certified is much less daunting than you think. The workshop will provide an update on the refinement and implementation of LEED certification standards. It will also explore other certifications, such as Energy Star Qualified and NAHB National Green Building Program and others.
